Welcome to...

a black and giant universe, a blue and tiny planet, a green and silver town and a school of every color. This is us. This is where we live...

Moving in Space... at a wander or a walk,
pacing through centers of concentric
CIRCLES,
the streets, the state lines,
the borders of our nation,
a FLOORPLAN,
Our lives move through LOCATIONS
at a shuffle or a sprint, through DOORWAYS and HALLWAYS, over CONCRETE and GRASS and on until we got to THIS PLACE where,
right now,
we are STANDING or SITTING or LYING ON OUR BACKS
and reading
the Lick-Wilmerding Tiger.

san francisco

A while ago I went through a period of real disenchantment with San Francisco. I felt that I was missing out on some of the essential aspects of my high school experience because I lived in a city instead of in a small town. I mean, when I think of classic high school stories, I think about "American Graffiti," all those kids who knew each other, cruising that one street and eating at the same drive-in. There's not a universal Lick hangout We have no Make-Out Hill, no Peach Pit. I eventually got over the feeling that I was missing out, mainly because I realized that if I had to live in a small town for more than a week, I'd probably go crazy.

Lick students may not congregate in the same place every Friday night, we may be pretty ignorant of some of the all-American teen rituals (what's a malt shop?). But I think the fact that we tend to scatter all over the city when we're not at school has made us a much more interesting group. People are defined by their surroundings; if everyone hung out in the same place, everyone would be the same. Instead, we have diversity because people who like to chill in Golden Gate Park in the middle of the night are thrown together with people who spend their time in smoky coffee houses and people who like the beach. We can go out into the city and listen to jazz or go to museums or shop downtown or eat in the Mission or lunge around in a mosh pit at the Fillmore or laugh at the tourists down at the water.

I used to get bored because I felt like there was nothing to do here. But now I see that there is more to do here than anywhere else. When I look back on my four years at Lick, I think I've learned the most from the city, from the places people took me, from thrift stores and restaurants, from a thousand cups of coffee in a thousand different coffee shops.

Although, I could go for a malt right about now.

Dedication...

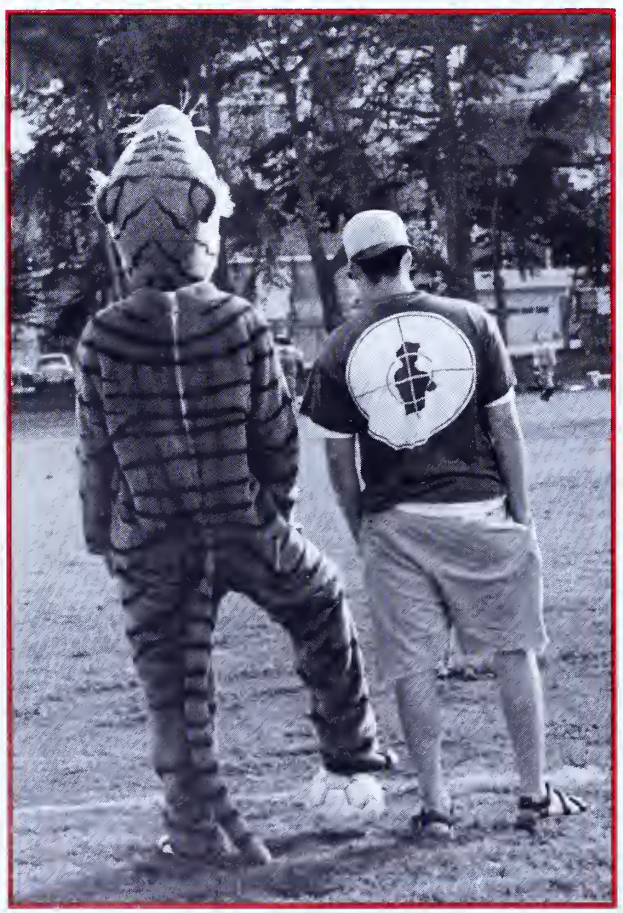
Traditionally, the yearbook is dedicated to a single individual, someone who has given of themselves for the sake of the Lick-Wilmerding community. This year, however, we chose to take another route.

The 1994-95 Tiger staff would like to dedicate this year's book to the Lick-Wilmerding Tiger. We don't just mean David Edeli running around in a fur suit, we mean the Tiger that resides in all of us.

That tiger is the one who roars from inside us when we cheer on our teammates and friends on the playing field.

That tiger is the same one who bounds across our field, playing tag, throwing a football, juggling a soccer or lacrosse ball, or chasing that person that just stole your last french fry.



That tiger is the one that packs food or pulls ice plant on Community Service Days alongside everyone else.

And finally, that tiger is the tiger who urges us to reach up to the sky, to accomplish something we have never experienced before.

So, Here's to the Tiger. May it survive forever in all of us.

Message from the Headmaster...

A school's physical plant is both a reflection and a definer of its values. The adjective most often applied to Lick's location and facilities is "unpretentious." Clearly, Lick has historically chosen to put money into programs and accessibility rather than into beautiful buildings.

Lick's campus has evolved through the years more by chance than by design. Our new master plan seeks to anticipate and plan for Lick's future needs. Library, fine arts center, student center, and cafeteria are designed to support and extend Lick's program and values.

Do you remember my saying at Founder's Day that "we drink from the wells that others have dug?" Just as your four years at Lick were made possible by past generations, so will future generations have you to thank for your part in shaping the Lick which they will experience.

Whatever we do over the next five years with program and physical plant has been strongly influenced by you. In each instance we have thought, "what would have enriched your experience even more?" You have been pioneers in an ongoing hundred year process. While being fully in the present during your time here, you have also informed the future. On behalf of future generations, I thank you.

It was a special treat for me to teach most of you in Freshman Seminar four years ago, and it has been wonderful to know you ever since. I will miss you and wish you well. Come back to Ocean Avenue over the years, when you can. You have deep roots here, and you will recognize your presence here, even many years hence.

FREES

Frees obviously aren't for everyone. Some people need to have school be militaristic so they don't get distracted. They need to work until the sun comes up in order to feel they are working hard enough. This is certainly not my situation. It's nice to look forward to school and know that I can pass all my classes without staying up till three in the morning like some of the more unfortunate people without frees. Having so much free time has changed my outlook on Lick and on life. Instead of dreading a six hour school day full of six solids like last year, I am free! Every day four solids at most and free time to sleep, play cards, try to do homework, or just goof off. And frees because of cancelled classes are great, sleeping in until ten or going home at twelve, time to do homework, and time to have a life. Getting four hours of sleep is a thing of the past and now I can actually sleep in my bed instead of falling asleep in class.

halls

We all know what a drag it can be, pushing and shoving your way through the crowded Lick halls during passing period. I'm always amazed at what happens in the hall at ten minutes until eight. But hey, don't complain. Life in the halls has changed a lot since my freshman year. Back then, our lockers were by the gym because all one hundred and two of us couldn't fit in the traditional frosh-soph hallway. It was narrow to begin with, and then we'd pile in mounds of people and create a human traffic jam, bringing down abuse from upperclassmen, struggling to get through. Finally, we were moved back to the "sophomore" hallway, but we didn't receive the warm welcome we hoped for, since the class above us had thoroughly enjoyed the half-year without those pesky freshpeople. Yes, Lick has changed from my freshman year. School started in August and every Monday was Day One

LUNCH

A Big Mac and fries, or a turkey sandwich on a french roll from Roxy's. Goranka's stereo blasting the soundtrack from Pulp Fiction or maybe a little Bob Marley. The sun is out and there is a football game, or sometimes an ultimate frisbee match, on the field. The freshman girls are sitting together on the stairs of the amphitheatre, giggling and gossiping. The senior guys are strutting around the gym, shooting hoops or lifting weights. There are many groups of friends scattered about outside, talking and enjoying the sunshine. Thoughts of Advanced comp and A.P. Chemistry are hidden away for now, to return at the end of our thirty minute break. Now it is lunch. We can all relax, just a little, for a few minutes.

Stress? What is that for me? I sit here beneath the blaring bulbs of the dining room chandelier, spears of razor sharp light beams glinting off the vast, gleaming, polished, dark oak table before me, and I wonder if this state I'm in right now is sleep or just the [illegible] of a sleep-deprived, puckered-up, sixteen-year old junior at Lick. This state is a common bond between students. What I describe tonight is plural; hundreds of students are feeling the same way right this very moment. Their weary heads rest on writer's-cramped hands as they crouch over their textbooks. They have retired to more practical attire (and oh, so attractive!) which includes five layers from comfy long johns to good, sturdy sweaters. Absolute value problems crowd their mind. The eight a.m. Chemistry test looms over their heads like their mother has all week, warning ceaselessly that they should get off the phone and study. But really, who wants to be a case? Here's some advice: give it up and go to bed.

FRIENDS

Nothing at Lick can compare to the friends you'll make and keep forever. Who would have thought that in such a short time you'll make some of the best friends you'll ever have? We all know the happiness that takes over when you turn the corner and see the friend that you've been looking for all day so that you can repeat the joke that you laughed about for hours on the phone the night before. Friends are the ones who make your day enjoyable as they help you with your problems, congratulate you on your successes, and talk and laugh with you about nothing during lunch. And who can forget the times when you've had to study for a test during a free and you find your friends sitting with you anyway? Friends understand when you need to be by yourself and worry about you when you're upset. Each person at Lick has the people that make their day special and each person at Lick makes someone else's day special by being a friend.

Okay, here's the deal. We swear we're from "sunny California." Whenever I'm on the East Coast and tell people I live in California, they all think I own stock in Hawaiian Tropic and that we all go surfing after school. But I'm sitting outside now on this icy November morning and it's SUBZERO. But I've noticed that being Californians, Lickies try to ignore the fact that November 1994, is the second Ice Age. Countless Lickies can be seen braving the wind-chill factor in their T-shirts. But one thing's for sure, when it's warm out and the sun shines, Lick knows how to celebrate. -Kim Sargent, 1996

Grandparent's Day

Grandparent's Day at Lick continued its yearly tradition as many grandparents came to enjoy the day at school on November 22. They attended classes and ate lunch with their grandchildren, eager to spend a day with them. This annual event is special to the grandparents, who normally don't have the opportunity to spend time with their grandchildren and see how they live.

NOAH WOLFSON Day

This year's Noah Wolfson Day was focused on African culture. We listened to Marijo tell us stories, making us realize that "stories" do in fact "keep the past alive." Also, we watched slides of African tribes and listened to insights of Pat Goyen, Docent of the De Young Museum. Perhaps the highlight of the day was the drums and dances of Mosheh Milon and the Bantara Dance Ensemble, which brought the whole Lick community to their feet.

VARSITY SOCCER

This year's Boy's Varsity soccer team came out fired up and more mature than in previous years, with eight seniors on the squad. Coach Shay was succesful in using his limited roster of 15 to achieve a third-place ranking in the BCL. Though the season got off to a slow start, the team picked up momentum through a series of wins mid-season. They played their last hard-fought game against UHS at Balboa Stadium. All in all, it was a succesful and enjoyable season. There is a lot of promise for an even better season next year,with the move to Division II and the leadership of the strong returning players,

After an inspiring summer of World Cup soccer, our J.V. team first joined together. It was quite a shock seeing so many new freshman joining the team. Returning player Jesse Feldman and I, a new member to the team, would be captains, and we would lead the team along with new coach Drew Campbell. Through Drew's drills (like organizing ourself in the order of the girl we thought was cutest,) we learned game-winning strategies,while we got advice on our love lives from our radio-cab operator. Somehow, we united and crushed Bridgemont in our final game, four to one.

J.V. VOLLEYBALL

Having not played volleyball last year, I was unaware of what the season would bring. The team brought together many girls from the frosh, sophomore and junior classes. This was great because a variety of girls was represented on one team. Our practices were not only filled with challenging endless drills, but also loads and loads of laughter. All the laughter helped us bond as a team. We worked very hard all season, and were well rewarded with second place in the BCL league.

After graduating four key players last season, we knew we would have to play hard to win. With a lot of talent and just as much spirit,we put our hearts in every game. This season was full of fun and hard work, made better because our players got along well both on and off the court. We had many exciting wins and some tough losses, but managed to stick together with the help of our coach, Brenda Kou, and ended the season with a great game against College Prep.

Kyra Li added Lick's first girl's tennis plaqu to our trophy case for winning firs place in the consolation round of th B.C.L.'s. This year's team warmly welcomed new and returning players supporting each other consistently and creating new friendships on an off the court. Good job Lick! We wi miss you.

The Lick-Wilmerding Boys' Varsity Cross Country team had another successful season in a row, with a 7-2 record. Led by senior super-star Phil Jonas, we cruised into the postseason at peak performance. After qualifying for the NCS final meet and state qualifier, we posted sound victories over hated rivals Branson and Head Royce, losing to UHS by a mere six points, where we had been virtually skunked earlier in the season.

Led by junior Celina Lee and Senior Bridget Leach, who both qualified for the state qualifier individually, the Girls' Varsity team also competed successfully, securing fifth place in the BCL. The team as a whole barely missed qualifying for the NCS final meet, placing eleventh at the semifinal meet.

This year we had a lot of great games. We worked well even though we had five new players. At the begining of the season, we did not know each other's strenghths or who was dependable, but we improved into a well organized, high-paced team. Our record was five and five, and we made it to the playoffs.

-Alisa Jackson, '97

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Anyone who knows boy's basketball knows that this year's team was one of the best in Lick history. The team practiced hard through Winter Break for their trip to Hawaii. After their trip, the boys had an amazing season, beating Branson for the first time in nine years. They went to the playoffs and beat Emery in a packed gym at USF. The next night, in a gym bursting at the seams, they fought University to the buzzer. Entering the NCS games, the team beat Crystal Springs at home and traveled to Ukiah. The season was very successful, and the boys came together as a team and had a good team concept. Maybe it was the dinner they had together before each Friday game.

More than anything, I am indebted to the two friends that helped me enjoy my four years of hard work. Stepping into an already-existant friendship can pose great difficulties, and we did have our "blue" times, but as a three-some we enjoyed a number of experiences which I will never forget. I know that my countless treks to Pacific Heights from the East Bay were worth every minute.

Will: They say opposites attract. We are opposites in almost every aspect I can think of, other than political views. I should have known that someone would inevitably come into my life and loosen me up. I needed it. I still do, and I always will. If I ever cut a class, I will do it in your honor. We had a great time in Mexico, where you showed me how truly to relax, and the long, in depth conversations we have had both on and off the phone were invaluable. I admire you a lot, and if I hope anything at all for you in the rest of your life it is that you prove to all those you meet that there is more to you than meets the eye. I took great pleasure in discovering it for myself.

Berkeley: As I admire Will, I admire you. However, my reasons with you are very different. You are a quick thinker, an intellectual whose intellect is a deadly weapon. You have an undeniably keen (and cruel?) sense of humor whose victims I pity. You are an athlete, capable in almost every sport, all of which you perform with unmatched grace. I am none of the above. You are an intense person, always in need of something to do. You couldn't have balanced my (and Will's) personality any better than you did. Despite our stint(s) of animosity towards each other, I still perceive your friendship as having benefitted me greatly. Something tells me you will be famous one day. I won't guess as to what for.

To those who have affected my life at Lick: Kyra, we spent almost two weeks worth of time on BART, probably 5 or 6 days of those together. If I need say more, you are a good person, and can lay claim to being the only person ever to expand my

Bear bites Californian hiking in Yellowstone

■ Attack is second in the region in two days; other grizzly is killed.

By Angus M. Thuermer Jr.

A hiker near Old Faithful was bitten by a what he thinks was a grizzly bear, the second attack in the ecosystem in two days.

Kirk Von Meeteren, 40, of Corona Del Mar, Calif., sustained minor puncture wounds and scrapes as a result of the encounter Sept 21. He was hiking alone on the Fairy Falls Trail near Old Faithful when he was charged.

The incident occurred the day after Casper hunter Clayton "Pete" Peterson was mauled near Moran while hunting elk.

Von Meeteren was aware of the bear only when it charged him from 50 feet. He hid behind a tree, but the bear ran around it and knocked him down.

He was able to hike to help and was given first aid. Rangers believe they discerned tell-tale tracks of a grizzly, probably a sub-adult.

They don't consider the bear's actions unusual and have posted warning signs on the trail.

Meanwhile, Wyoming Game and Fish Department officials killed the bear that mauled Peterson. The hunter had wounded the animal.

Game and Fish personnel flew toward the bear while others approached on horseback. They located it by a radio beacon that had been attached to the 22-year-old animal for research purposes.

"When they got over it, first it wouldn't lift his head," Game and Fish district supervisor Tom Toman said. "Then he tried to drag himself into the timber."

It was obvious the bear was wounded to a degree it would not recover, Toman said.

"The guys did what they thought was the humane thing," Toman said.

The shot Peterson fired on Sept. 20 stopped the grizzly for a moment. It continued its charge, knocking the hunter down and biting him in the head and left arm.

Peterson was taken to St. John's Hospital, then transferred to Casper in fair condition.

Griz mauls hunter near Wilderness

■ Bear rips Casper man's face, arm.

By Angus M. Thuermer Jr.

The worst fears of local wildlife officials were realized Tuesday when a grizzly bear mauled a Casper hunter near Moran.

It was the opening day of general license elk hunting season in northern Jackson Hole in a year when federal and state officials have released countless warnings of the danger of encountering grizzly bears. Already this year there have been two maulings by grizzlies south of Yellowstone and at least one other close encounter.

Two, and now perhaps three, wounded grizzlies could be roaming the woods.

Clayton E. Peterson Jr. of Casper became another statistic Tuesday when he was chewed on by a big bruin while hunting elk just north of Moran. He was severely mauled by the grizzly on the edge of the Teton Wilderness near Davis Hill.

Peterson shot at the bear at a range of approximately eight feet with his .375 H&H rifle, bringing it to a halt for a moment. The large-calibre weapon is known for its stopping power, even on bears.

The bear charged on, laying open deep wounds by biting Peterson severely in the left arm and head.

It's uncertain whether the bear was hit by a bullet, officials said. An aerial search by wildlife officials followed.

I'm smiling becase I'm not Martin Eng.

Granted, out last name sounds the same but they're spelled differently. Do we look alike to you?

I'm Herman and this is what I'm about! Friends! Family! Church!

The story so far: In the beginning the Universe was created. This has made a lot of people very angry and been widely regarded as a bad move-- Douglas Adams ⧖ If I had been present at creation, I would have given some useful hints-- Alfonso the Wise ⧖ The chicken probably came before the egg because I can't imagine God wanting to sit on an egg-- Unknown ⧖ One murder makes a villain, millions a hero-- Beilby Porteus ⧖ To love oneself is the beginning of a life-long romance-- Oscar Wilde ⧖ There's nothing wrong with teenagers that reasoning with them won't aggravate-- Unknown ⧖ Writing is easy. All you do is stare at a blank sheet of paper until drops of blood form on your forehead-- Gene Fowler ⧖ My father never lived to see his dream come true of an all-Yiddish speaking Canada-- David Steinberg ⧖ I've tried relaxing, but, I don't know; I feel more comfortable tense-- Hamilton cartoon ⧖ I wish people who have trouble communicating would just shut up-- Tom Lehrer ⧖ Everything hurts-- Michealangelo Antonioni ⧖ It takes two to speak the truth-- one to speak and another to hear-- Henry David Thoreau ⧖ There is no pleasure in having nothing to do; the fun is having lots to do and not doing it-- John Raper ⧖ Reality is a crutch for a people who can't cope with drugs-- Lily Tomlin ⧖ Brain damage reading test: People tell me one thing and out the other. I feel as much like I did yesterday as I did today. I never liked room temperature. No napkin is sanitary enough for me. I don't like any of my loved ones-- Daniel Wegner ⧖ Progress might have been all right once, but it has gone on too long-- Ogden Nash ⧖ I will always cherish the initial misconceptions I had about you-- Unknown ⧖ It is better to know some of the questions than all of the answers-- James Thurber ⧖ Love is a grave mental disease-- Plato ⧖ Patriotism is the willingness to kill and be killed for trivial reasons-- Bertrand Russell ⧖ The remarkable thing about Shakespeare is that he really is very good, in spite of all the people who say he is very good-- Robert Graves ⧖ Faith is believing what you know ain't so-- Mark Twain ⧖ Youth is such a wonderful thing. What a crime to waste it on children-- George Bernard Shaw ⧖ Hard work never killed anybody, but why take a chance?-- Charlie McCarthy ⧖ I based my fashion taste on what doesn't itch-- Gilda Radner ⧖ Sometimes a scream is better than a thesis-- Ralph Waldo Emerson ⧖ Life is what happens while you are making other plans-- John Lennon ⧖ Poets have been mysteriously silent on the subject of cheese-- G.K. Chesterton ⧖ We're all in this alone-- Lily Tomlin ⧖ I write fiction because it's a way of making statements I can disown, and I write plays because dialogue is the most respectable way of contradicting myself-- Tom Stoppard ⧖ If I love you, what business is it of yours?--Johann von Goethe ⧖ Television has proved that people will look at anything rather than each other-- Ann Landers ⧖ Cats are intended to teach us that not everything in nature has a function-- Garrison Keillor. ⧖ I think it would be a good idea-- Mahatma Gandhi when asked what he thought of Western Civilization ⧖ The gods are too fond of a joke -- Aristotle ⧖ Finishing a book is just like you took a child out in the back yard and shot it-- Truman Capote ⧖ It isn't easy being green-- Kermit ⧖ Man is more of an ape than many of the apes-- Friedrich Nietzsche ⧖ Distrust any enterprise that requires new clothes-- Henry David Thoreau ⧖ Rub a dub dub/ Three men in a tub/ and that's on a slow night-- a sign in a San Francisco bath house ⧖ I was going to buy a copy of The Power of Positive Thinking, and then I thought: What the hell good would that do?-- Ronnie Shakes ⧖ Nobody wants justice-- Alan Dershowitz ⧖ Life is extinct on other planets because their scientists were more advanced than ours-- Unknown ⧖ Cats are smarter than dogs. You can't get eight cats to pull a sled through snow-- Jeff Valdez ⧖ Life is a series of hellos and good-byes-- Billy Joel ⧖ A wasp was sucking jam on my plate, and I cut him in half. He paid no attention, merely went on with his meal while a tiny stream of jam trickled out of his severed esophagus. Only when he tried to fly away did he grasp the dreadful that that had happened to him-- George Orwell ⧖ The most important things are the hardest things to say. They are the things you get ashamed of, because words diminish them-- words shrink things that seemed limitless when they were in your head to no more than living size when they're brought out. But it's more than that, isn't it?.... You may make revelations that cost you dearly only to have people look at you in a funny way, not understanding what you've said at all, or why you thought it was so important you almost cried while you were saying it. That's the worst, I think. When the secret stays locked within not for want of a teller, but for want of an understanding ear-- Stephen King ⧖

←A poet and a prophet—which is which?→

-Until the color of a man's skin is of no more significance than the color of his eyes is a WAR.

-In this bright future, you can't forget your past.

-Don't forget your history know your destiny, in the abundance of water the fool is thirsty.

-You are working in iniquity to achieve vanity.

-If you are the big tree, we are the small axe, ready to cut you down.

-I feel so high, I even touch the sky above the falling rain, I feel so good in my neighborhood so here I come again.

-When I meet you around the corner, on I said baby, never let me be a loner. And then you hold me tight, you make me feel allright.

-One of my good friends said in a Reggae rhythm, don't jump in the water if you can't swim. The power of philosophy floats thru my head, you're light like a feather, heavy as lead.

-Every man thinketh his burden is the heaviest, but who feels it knows it, Lord.

-JAH would never give the power to a baldhead, run come crucify the dread.

JAMES MARSHALL HENDRIX:

-So it's time we take a ride. You can cast all your hang-ups over the South Side

-I'm not the only soul accused of hit and run, tire tracks all across your back I can see you had your fun.

-No one knows where she comes from, maybe she's a devil in disguise, I can't tell by looking in her eyes Little Miss Strange

-I'm leanin' on my window sill diggin' everything, and you too.

-Well I ask my friend, "Where is that black smoke coming from?" He just promptly changed the subject and said, "Er, uh, it might snow some." So I left him sippin' his tea and jumped in my chariot and run off to see just why and who could it be this time.

-I didn't mean to take up all your sweet time, I'll give it right back one of these days.

-If I don't meet you no more in this world, I'll meet you on the next one, don't be late!

-I might as well go back over yonder, way back over the hill. 'Cause if my baby don't love me no more, I know her sister will.

-I'm gonna buy this town, and put it all in my shoe--I might even get a piece of you.

-You make love, you break love, it's all the same when it's over, baby.

-If the sun refuse to shine, I don't mind. If the mountains fell in the sea, let it be; it ain't me. 'Cause I got my own world to live through and I ain't gonna copy you.

You have to forget about what other people say,
When you're supposed to die,
Or when you're supposed to be loving.
You have to go on and be crazy.

Congratulations, Jonathan! A job well-done! May you always cherish your wonderful heart and all our love for you!
Love,
Carol, Don, Donovan, Morgen & Kachina

May your life be filled with love, wisdom & adventure. Keep an open mind and heart! We admire your courage and strength and are proud to be your Aunt & Uncle.
With love on your Graduation,
Joel & Claude

P.S. - Hope you choose U. of P. - our house will be your "East Coast" home!

Dear Jon,
I promise that if you come to school in Philly, you will have a home cooked dinner once a week. I will be happy to submit a menu for your approval. It will be my delight to have a young man to my house for dinner and I won't ask any questions about where you are going and why.
Love You Much,
Sara, Mom/Mom-Mom

Come visit us in Montana (with or without your family) & again!) We'd love to go fishing with you again! & again!) Remember that the days you spend fishing do not count toward your allotted time on Earth.

Dear Jon,
We're proud and happy for you and wish we were there to celebrate your accomplishments and achievements in person. In the meantime, we're thinking of you and wishing the best in the months and years to come.
Much Love from your NY family,
Michael, Sheridan, Matthew & Emma

Jon, I'm so proud of you and always have been. I'm glad you've found your passion and that you've been able to share it with others. I'm sure that you will do great things in your life and I look forward to seeing them. Love, Aunt Sue

It is with a great amount of respect, that we wish for only good things in your life always. We are blessed and honored to be a part of your family.
Peace and Love,
Peter and Julie

We are so impressed with the incredible changes you've made in your life. We'd study for the SAT vocabulary section with you anytime!

This is how it was in our space, Lick-Wilmerding High School, in 1995. But things have changed. . . haven't they?
